DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-40 are presented for examination.

Drawings

2. Figures 1-3 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.
3. This application, filed under former 37 CFR 1.60, lacks formal drawings. The informal drawings filed in this application are acceptable for examination purposes. When the application is allowed, applicant will be required to submit new formal drawings. In unusual circumstances, the formal drawings from the abandoned parent application may be transferred by the grant of a petition under 37 CFR 1.182.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

5. Claims 3-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. Claim Objections

11. Claim 32 is objected to because of the following informalities: symbol “3” should be deleted at line 10. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

12. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

13. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ko et al (US Patent 6,292,185; hereinafter Ko).

14. As per claim 1, Ko discloses a method and apparatus for tailoring the appearance of a graphical user interface. Ko clearly discloses a method for tailoring the appearance of a graphical user interface including the steps of (1) identifying a graphical user interface whose appearance is to be tailored; (2) providing data of the appearance and controls of the graphical user interface; and (3) tailoring the graphical user interface in accordance with the data. Further, a selected appearance and location of the controls and a user-selected region in which data is to be displayed within the graphical user interface is customized. Furthermore, Ko expressly discloses an editing tool program that is used to tailor a graphical user interface. Please read col. 1, lines 51-57; col. 2, lines 28-39; col. 2, lines 51-60; col. 7, lines 65-67; col. 8, lines 1-17.

Though applicants claim performing customization of a graphical user interface on a first computer and displaying on a second computer, applicants expressly disclose that one single computer can execute both the editor software and display software [paragraph 0057]. Ko clearly discloses so without any limitation. Ko clearly discloses that the techniques described in the present invention may also be used to modify any graphical user interface window [col. 7, lines 65-67].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

15. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

16. Claims 2-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ko et al (US Patent 6,292,185; hereinafter Ko) in view of Zellweger (US Patent 6,397,222).

17. As per claims 2-40, Ko discloses a method and apparatus for tailoring the appearance of a graphical user interface. Ko clearly discloses a method for tailoring the appearance of a graphical user interface including the steps of (1) identifying a graphical user interface whose appearance is to be tailored; (2) providing data of the appearance and controls of the graphical user interface; and (3) tailoring the graphical user interface in accordance with the data. Further, a selected appearance and location of the controls and a user-selected region in which data is to be displayed within the graphical user interface is customized. Furthermore, Ko expressly discloses an editing tool program that is used to tailor a graphical user interface. Please read col. 1, lines 51-57; col. 2, lines 28-39; col. 2, lines 51-60; col. 7, lines 65-67; col. 8, lines 1-17.

Ko does not expressly disclose about providing a level of access in the method for tailoring the graphical user interface. But a routineer in the art would know that it is very common in the field of customization or tailoring system to have some sort of security where an unauthorized person cannot alter the graphical user interface unnecessarily. However, Zellweger clearly discloses that not only prior art of authoring system includes a password protection menu access but also the invention disclosed by Zellweger limits access to configuration interface to authorized users only [col. 4, lines 6-12, 50-57; col. 5, lines 5060]. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the cited references as both are directed to a similar system where a graphical user interface is customized or tailored. Moreover, clearly by having a level of access will protect the system from unwanted or unnecessary changes to a graphical user interface.
